Day's meeting of the London School was one of the most numerously attended yet which has been held by that body. Resolutions were introduced, each with a view against the payment of fees in denominational schools, and to which the chairman made some interesting contributions.

Mr. Morley, M.P., moved that No.8, which dealt with the question under the notice of the meeting by the Ministry, should be taken before that which dealt with the matter of compulsory attendance, and was, however, determined to discuss the law as it was. The first having been moved by the Rev. J. Rodgers proposed the following:—“The parent of every child under the age of five years, or more than three years of age, is required to cause such attended school, unless there be some valid excuse for non attendance. The which extended to considerable length, returned to the day of the 10th. At this time, a meeting was presided at by the Hon. Sir James Farquhar, Bart. of Guernsey yesterday. He expressed a hope that amongst the measures for which there would be some affecting the system of local administration, and for carrying out sanitary reforms, and trusted that questions might be dealt with independently of party considerations. A crowded meeting was held last night in the hall, at which resolutions were passed in support of the movement headed by the

 at once be chosen, the object being to forward Prince Napoleon for the office.
 The motion was lost by 18 votes to 22. It is not probable that this will not be the last time that the Emperor will meet the Council with mistake. On the ground he has not the necessary property qualification, his election to the Council is likely to be declared void.
 Conti, formerly private secretary to the Emperor, recently came forward as a candidate for a seat in the Council-General, and was defeated. While contest-ing he made a speech, in which he said that he made himself because he had been ordered by the Emperor to do so. In the interview with the Emperor, he said that his Majesty would return to his country sooner than most people supposed.
 The indignation is expressed by the Paris press at the declarations recently made by the Emperor, Napoleon, at Chislehurst. The first statement, it says, is of a humiliating nature, and that in referring to the Emperor if blindfold into his hands. He squandered everything, betrayed everything. Never believing incapacity so completely assume the form of crime. Replying to the statement of the Emperor that he had no more to say to the Government, the Temps remarks that the man who speaks thus is a comprah-his life, until he gained his ends by impudence in deceit, and of patience in cum-ber.
 He may deplore the present situation of the Government, but it is not favorable for it; to accuse now those whom he has raised up, is to sacrifice his own interests. The Temps remain in France. The Emperor takes no account of the al-unanimous vote of the Bordeaux Assembly deposing him, nor of the fact that the Assembly was elected by universal suffrage. Like Temps, it says that if the present position in France is as the Emperor describes, he himself is responsible for it.

the annual public sitting of the five Academies was held in Paris yesterday. M. Jules Simon presided, and M. Thiers was present. The former in his speech strongly condemned the atrocities of the Communists. Another of the Communists' prisoners, Gustave Naquet, escaped. The trial of the assassins of General Leconte and Thomas will commence on 10th of November.
